

Object: what do you want to achieve by organising the project?

The team will reflect the challenges of the pandemic 2020-2022, the examples selected by them will illustrate what kind of approaches in coping with the exceptional circumstances have been developed and which have been successful in absorbing social distance and working from home, as well as making up for economic, cultural and educational recessions, or which are rather not suited to these purposes.

Analysis, reflection and discussion will enable us to achieve a transnational evaluation and develop future strategies.

Organising the project: what kind of activities will you arrange?

The project is divided into 8 steps. They are arranged consecutively and deal with examining, comparing, evaluating and refining, up to describing and developing recommended courses of action in the form of short scenes. There will be eight conferences, one each at the places of the project partners in order to keep direct contact with each other => against social distance!

Working on the project will result in a joint play for the stage. It will directly be performed and recorded. At the conferences the partners will work out the scenes together.

Results: what kind of results do you expect from the project?

As a follow-up to the pandemic our reactions to the regulations will be recalled, the strategies will be reviewed and evaluated. Starting from there, we will develop patterns of behaviour to be better prepared for similar future situations. The ideas how to cope with such situations will be put into scenes, controlled role-playing will reveal their everyday relevance and will make it easier to accept some approaches. Didactic material (book) in relation to the scenes will be developed.
